Bryan N. Vega is a partner at Meland Budwick, P.A., where he focuses his practice on real estate, corporate, and transactional matters. He serves as Co-Chair of the firm's Real Estate and Corporate Group, and is known for his practical, relationship-driven approach to solving complex business and legal issues. Before joining the firm, he was an attorney at Greenberg Traurig.

Bryan represents national and regional real estate developers, private investors, entrepreneurs, and financial institutions. His real estate practice includes the acquisition, disposition, financing, development, construction, operation, and leasing of a broad range of asset types, such as mixed-use and retail developments, office buildings, hospitality projects, industrial centers, condominiums, multifamily properties, and other commercial and residential properties. He routinely drafts, reviews, and negotiates commercial and residential real estate documents, including purchase and sale agreements, loan documents, closing and conveyance instruments, and lease agreements. He also performs title and survey due diligence and oversees commercial and residential real estate closings. Bryan takes a practical, solutions-oriented approach to every matter and is known for being highly responsive and deeply engaged in helping clients achieve their business objectives.

In his corporate and transactional practice, Bryan advises clients on corporate structuring and entity formation, including the formation of limited liability companies, corporations, and partnerships. He drafts operating agreements, shareholder agreements, and other organizational documents, and negotiates complex structures, including joint ventures and general partner/limited partner arrangements. He also serves as outside general counsel to a wide range of companies, assisting with general corporate governance, contracts, and other day-to-day transactional matters. Through his firm, clients also have access to legal support in employment and litigation matters.

Bryan earned his J.D. from the University of Miami School of Law, where he served on the executive board of the University of Miami Law Review as an Articles and Comments Editor. He was also a Dean's Merit Scholarship recipient and interned for the Honorable Jose E. Martinez in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Florida in 2013.
