Mark is a tremendously effective real estate transactional attorney."

– Chambers USA

Mark Meland co-founded the firm in 1993. Mark is an accomplished real estate lawyer handling the entire lifecycle of real estate transactions. His broad client base includes entrepreneurs, sponsors, individuals, developers and lenders in commercial and residential transactions.

Mark's real estate practice integrates complex corporate work into many real estate transactions, including formation of entities, debt-equity structures, and joint venture agreements. He also serves as outside general counsel to corporate clients, often representing them in M&A transactions involving sales and acquisitions of businesses.

Mark prepares condominium, master, and other types of documents for residential, commercial, and mixed-use projects. This work includes real property sales and acquisitions, financing transactions and restructurings, bulk condominium sales and acquisitions and condominium terminations, for numerous large and prominent projects. Mark also has extensive experience in leasing transactions representing both landlords and tenants.

Mark represents individuals and businesses seeking to obtain capital for corporate and real property transactions. His lender representation includes hard money loans, commercial and residential loan workouts and the financing of real estate acquisition and construction.

Mark's wide ranging practice includes workout and bankruptcy advice and transactions for those negatively affected by the market, seeking to capitalize on the distressed market or acquiring debt or equity positions. He acted as a court appointed Receiver for numerous entities and was an approved Chapter 11 Bankruptcy Trustee for high-profile companies.

His practice further entails examination of title as an agent for numerous title underwriters.

Mark serves as general counsel and participates on boards for numerous businesses and charitable organizations.
